Meta Arts- How deep the Hole?, SOC Drawer, Eat the Rich Not From Concentrate

With the continued, and by now quite obvious trends in biospheric degradation here on earth now indicating an increase in both frequency of events and severity of impact, the question of just how deep is this rabbit hole needs to be considered. The 'reality' which is crafted and molded for the sheep or the slaves of the corpocratocracy is breaking down. It is purely illusionary, and has begun to diverge in significant amounts from [ground truth] manifesting daily. Our rabbit hole, down which we follow our Mad Hatter, is woven through the illusionary reality of the corporate masters very much like force lines are woven through torsion fields.

The breakdown of the corporate crafted consensus 'reality' is allowing bits and pieces of more 'firm' rumor to surface. The observable facts, as well as the gestalt of the relevant material on the internet present a rather grim picture. Even the more scientifically rigorous amongst the media 'outcasts' on the internet such as R. Hoagland and others of academic or scientific credentials have reached the conclusion that things are just not right with the illusionary reality being presented. For those with 2/two hours to spare, a series of 3/three interviews with R. Hoagland are available on YouTube. If you haven't the time it is still worthwhile to view the last of the 3/three as Hoagland goes into the 2012 issue, relative to the 'elite' of the planet. He has yet to reach definitive conclusions about the 'what will happen', but he is clear that ThePowersThatBe expect a very large percentage of the planetary human populace to perish on or before December 21, 2012. He is also convinced of the correctness of the statement that 'hyperdimensional physics' are at the core of the 2012 issue, and further that we are within a much denser, and more energetic volume of space which is becoming increasingly denser, and more energetic the closer we get to alignment with the center of the Milky Way galaxy. Hoagland also offers that there are 2/two paths available to us in the manifesting reality...first, what "will/may" happen, and second, what ThePowersThatBe are preparing against. This last is very significant as TPTB have been preparing for it a lot longer and have a whooole lot more money to throw about in getting questions answered.

The 'what may happen' question can produce a huge range given the speculation associated with the 2012 meme. As to the 'what are TPTB doing to prepare?' question, that is an exercise in deductive logic 2/twice removed. First we have to deduce the 'what' from the actions being taken by TPTB, but....secondly we have to deduce just how reliable any given 'fact' about their preparations may be. And since each 'fact' which presents itself is part of our net of information, any 'fact' later revealed to be fiction must be discarded, which means we need weave our net of information in such a way that it still functions even with a few holes developing later.

Some of the 'facts' so far proven to be facts include the astounding rise in the number of UFO reports in the last 7/seven years. Coincident with this is the rising tide of governmental releases of UFO related information kept hidden for years. And there is the clear evidence of pan solar system, planetary climate disruption. NOT mere 'global warming'. As with R. Hoagland when we follow the trail of 'facts' seeking information, we must always remember that the 'lies' from the TPTB are different at every level. So our whole solar system is involved. And has been noted by the Russian scientists for nearly a decade, this is due to our whole solar system entering an area of space which is qualitatively different from where we have been in the recent past millennia, and further the nature of the difference in this region of space appears to be increasing with the depth of our solar system passage. Further the whole of the 'planet X' mythos is likely irrelevant to our current conditions, and may be a 'captured meme' being used for their own purposes by TPTB.

Other 'facts' gleaned from the gestalt include an unhealthy secrecy among the TPTB concerning hyperdimensional physics, and the real history of humans and other life in the solar system. Further it appears that many of the 'elite' sub sets within TPTB have been and continue to prepare by purchasing large tracts of land in the southern hemisphere at high altitudes. Other gleanings include the references to both personal/smallish and very large underground 'cities' being constructed by TPTB at various places around the planet in both the southern and northern hemispheres. Additionally there are curious relationships between the places chosen for these 'retreats' and underground shelters, and key hyperdimensional numbers such as "19.47" (frequently rounded up to 19.5), and 33 (key Scottish rite degree number). And the rabbit hole gets deeper. Apparently the TPTB believe that survival post 2012 will require not only a deep, concrete lined hole-in-the-ground, but also that this hole should be optimally sited at some harmonic off the tetrahedral or hyperdimensional geometry apex. Other, northern hemisphere hyperdimensional geometry apex points, are apparently to be 'hot spots'. The Fillmore hot spot is eerily similar to the locations of 'hot spots' on the outer planets.

On the outside edge of the collective gestalt, we find that TPTB *do expect a mass die-off of surface life on or around 2012; *do expect nearly 98/ninety-eight percent of humans to perish in the die-off; *are not apparently concerned about that; *are in league/servitude (at some level) with NFH (not from here) beings; *are screwing around with all kinds of hyperdimensional technologies more-or-less out in the open (HAARP, et al); *do know a whoooole lot more than anyone is saying; *are preparing for their personal survival through catastrophes over these next 4/four years; *are providing lies and distractions abundance to disguise the nature of reality to the populace; *do expect to be among some of the very few who survive the solar system wide catastrophe of 2012; *do expect to dominate once the 'emergency' situation is finished.

So...what's an aware observer to do under the circumstances?

A few thoughts do occur. In our reasoning here at HPH, there is no other issue larger than the 2012 meme. At present, merely 4/four years and four months out, the possibility of denial of pending problems is shrinking exponentially. However the amount of energy being poured into distraction and disinformation as well as control structures is escalating even faster on the part of TPTB. It will be important for the aware observer to not become mentally trapped by any of the distractions offered. Avoid getting hung up on the daily disasters which are merely the details in the larger composite picture. Now is the time for big vision. The gestalt suggests that TPTB are really really scared. As their fear escalates with the time progressing closer to 2012, we can expect them to become more dangerous, erratic, and brutal especially with 'challenge' to their control mechanisms. As a rule, scared equals stupid. It is alright to fear as long as the emotion is acknowledged, it can be dealt with, and used as an aid rather than being allowed to dominate reason. A side effect of secrecy is the internalization of fears which then go on to infect all the reasoning of the whole of the organization at a very base, karmic level. This in turn puts limits on thinking, and the bad outcomes increase, which in turn promotes more within the karmic secrecy torus, and thus we end up here, and now...with a bunch of insane, twisted humans nominally in control, though barely able to contain their own bowels against the raging internal fears.

In our reasoning here at HPH, there is no other issue larger than the 2012 meme. But there is going to be a whole lot of universe level crap between here and there. The pre 2012 warm ups may include [unknown energies from space], as well as the more mundane [CME (coronal mass ejection)]. There are hints in the gestalt that ThePowersThatBe are expecting further magnetic level disruptions up to and including a [planetary magnetic pole reversal], and finally the piece-de-resistance, the pinnacle of all doomsday scenarios, a [crustal shift of the planet earth which produces a geophysical pole shift. There are some modifiers out-and-about within the gestalt which may be pointing toward a [precessional angle] change, but as described, this would amount to a crustal shift in its effect.

In our reasoning here at HPH, there is no other issue larger than the 2012 meme. In part this is due to the nature of the data that we have which points toward a post 2012 future. In our data sets our 'hard' granularity reaches out no further than 3/three years (more-or-less). Further out, the data granularity drops rapidly, as does any level of reliability. We do have very long term association such as the FuturePop entity and our 'incept date' of 2018. These are arrived at by a lexicon linking, and not the usual modelspace loading which means that even though we have a date and an item linked, there are not necessarily lexicon sets accruing within that descriptor across modelspace to reach the date target. Make sense? Basically, we have a situation of 'soft date points' for anything beyond 2012. To a certain extent, this could be expected if the internet is effectively [controlled] or [gone] in the next few years. We would expect that any restrictions on the internet would result in a waning effect on our modelspace some time before the reduction would be in effect. Our thinking is that we will have perhaps a 'hard' six months warning. The effect of the spongy data now, may be the very early soft warning of internet restrictions which will produce a harder warning set later. Without regard to internet 'heal in the future, our usual granularity only extends out 3/three years with even marginal reliability. Still, what the data is showing relative to the 2012 meme not good.

In our reasoning here at HPH, there is no other issue larger than the 2012 meme. To this end, we will be spending more time with the ThePowersThatBe entity and its associated minion entities such as Press, and Bushista, and the coming ['new' officialdom] with the next [installed president]. As we go forward from here, our 3/three year focus for very long term data should be picking up more details of the preparations of ThePowersThatBe and thus should be able to provide more grist for our mills.

Given the deteriorating nature of the times, the acceleration toward the 2012 'singularity' is a clear-and-present danger, even if we are not quite sure just what the danger may be. Some hints in reality such as the 'seed vault' being built 400/four hundred feet above current ocean levels can provide hints. Other such hints will be coming over these next, very few remaining years.

At a very high level, and recognizing the part that this could play in a self-full filling cycle, our linguistics are picking up the formation, probably already existence, of what we can label a [SOC drawer]. This is a [collection] linguistics or structure which goes to the idea of a [clearing house] of [independent analysis/reports] about the [movements of the elite], with special focus on their [actions] relative to the [preparations] for 2012. This [SOC drawer] or [collecting/distribution point] is about to get a very large boost in [visibility] as many of the now-forming, 2012 preparation SOC's begin to reposition their component of the planetary gestalt to a self-selected distribution bourse. The efficacy of the effort aside, the sudden rise in [visibility] will be absent the mainstream media, but nonetheless this [SOC drawer] will become a [planetary sensation/center] in a shockingly short period of time. There are associations with [France] and this [soc], as well as geographic references to [oceans], and [estuaries]. There are further supporting layers for [pirate media], and [stifled voices]. Again we need to note that the important element relative to our work is the temporal marker nature of the rising [visibility] of this [central clearing house on elite/illuminati/vatican/anglo-corporate aristocracy]. The manifestation of the [SOC drawer] as temporal marker should be relatively easy for the aware observer to locate as the data sets are indicating that a key, perhaps buried deep, and likely not in english, motto will emerge which goes to the idea of [(let's all) eat the rich (when the time comes)]. Hmmmm. Sounds a bit gruesome to me, and being a vegetarian I'll pass, but the idea comes across

The meta data layers of the data are clearly being supported by evidence that time itself is changing...or maybe it is better said that change is timing. Yes, much better. The data sets are accruing at significant levels of increase which mirror the elements of the data as statements. This is to say that the data is growing in patterns which replicate in a fractal manner, the message of the data itself. And the message is that [things are speeding up]... This is to say that [time] itself will be [disorienting] and will be producing a very large part of the [surreal] feelings which are indicated to begin late 2009. We have had the [time change/change timing] sub set since early in 2003. It continues to grow, but recent processing has brought in a very large set of totally new lexical structures. This is a little unusual in that large lexical structures have a tendency to accrue new supporting aspect/attribute sets under existing sub sets. It is a bit rare for an existing set of longer duration to get a growth spurt and further to have the growth be in totally new sub sets moving into new, supporting positions. This has happened with the [time acceleration] sub set. The indications from the new lexical support aspect/attribute sets are that the [time change] will be [felt], and then almost [immediately visible] within the global media stream after the Summer solstice of 2009. We are already considering the Summer of 2009 to be the 'summer from hell' for a number of reasons, and none of these new sub sets are describing a situation in which [mental reeling] or [vertigo] arises from [time changes]. There are a number of other symptoms associated with the [time reaction disease] and these also will be manifesting over 2009 such that many of the [health care facilities] are described as being [overwhelmed] or [crowded] with [crying/wailing] as the [time reaction disease] sufferers seek relief from the [surreal world] they now feel themselves inhabiting. And further, the data sets are suggesting that these poor fellows will be getting [really pissed/angry/violent] when told by other humans that they are not also suffering this [time concentration disease]. This symptom, that is to say, the [anger] at what is perceived to be [denial], rather than reality, is so prevalent that the sub set itself has its own [viability] sum sufficient to forecast that this [symptom] of [irrationality over other's health/lack of symptoms] will be the subject of much discussion in the global media stream.

Our long term longer looking data seems to indicate that our FuturePop entity will be based on something that we are labeling as the [new electrics]. These data sets are odd in that they are also indicating that the [time change] coming across within the various entities will also produce an [electron spin resonance (ESR)] alteration. This is a very very BIG issue, and of course we have a 4/four year horizon for the [completion] of the [ESR change]. The data sets are pointing toward this 2012 related [ESR alteration] as causing the [instant failure] of the [electrics] of the current (pun intended) social order. This [failure] of the [functioning] of the [electrical circuits] is being described as due to [unknown energies from space]. The data sets which are forming the FuturePop core are also pointing to this [failure] of the [electrons] to do their stuff any longer as being a [required] component of the [derivation of the new electrics] which will quite literally [power] the FuturePop entity.

Terra - Hulk Up, Tilt Over, Chow Down

The [duality] meta data layer is again rising in emotional influence within the Terra entity over the course of Fall and Winter 2008/2009. Within the [duality] influenced sub sets there are several which point to specific sets of issues affecting life here on earth. The largest of the supporting sub sets is [diaspora] which is found in support of the many differing kinds of [disasters] sub sets strewn about the entity. We note that the December 10th through the 15th of January are especially active with combinations of problems including the [earthquake] already forecast for that period in the 32/thirty-two to 36/thirty-six degrees of latitude band, and also now several large [storms] are indicated to also contribute to the [diaspora] meme at [local] and [regional] levels. There are specific references within the [flowing waters/flooding_induced by storms] which include the [pacific northwest] of the continental USofA, as well as [northern, western europe]. This last is apparently also associated with [storm surge].

Conversely, there are also new sub sets within the Terra entity indicating that [large city] may consider [relocation] due to [lack of water]. This does not appear to be in the northern hemisphere. The size of the [city] is the emotional driver for this area as the [visibility] of such a huge move being contemplated brings many humans to a newly aware state. And puts them square into their first encounter with manifesting reality discovered outside their limited, government issued, world view.

The Terra entity continues to accrue values under the [dancing mountains] sub set, and as this is likely [volcanic], and includes a [swarming of earthquakes], the linguistic structures are also pointing toward [oceanic dancing mountains]. The sub set can also be interpreted at the secondary support level by the phrase [planetary growth spurt]. This could be indicating that the planetary expansion model needs to be reviewed for potential accuracy.

The whole area of secondary or tertiary (we don't usually go much below 3/three levels) of support and the labels that these can provide gets to be something of an issue when in the interpretation. It is only our assigned numerical links which determine which layer is primary, which secondary and so on. These are then the most arbitrary of systems. And are frequently inaccurate, though the main idea may be correct. As an example, we initially had the descriptor of [force driven waters] for the Sumatran tsunami, but because that was at a secondary level of support we went with the primary supporting layer to get the label which we applied as [giant electrical storm (waters)]. Since then we have paid more attention to the secondary and tertiary levels of support for labels. Yet another case is the [pole shift] sub set. This sub set was discovered to exist a few months back, and is still growing, especially in those areas connected to the ThePowersThatBe entity, however if we are to examine the secondary support layer, the descriptors will yield a label of [obliquity change] rather than [pole shift]. Now we note that this is a very significant level of difference. In a [pole shift] there are 2/two components which matter to humans; first is the magnetic pole shift in which the magnetic field of the planet reverses, the second is when the crust of the planet actually spins about the core such that the geophysical poles change. In the case of the [\[obliquity change\]](#), there is no crustal shift per se, and instead what happens is that the angle of tilt of the planet (currently at 23.5 degrees) alters, perhaps radically. Such a change of the tilt of the planet can be expected to produce magnetic pole shifts along with the relational shift of the continents relative to the sun, and thus the seasons, and the tropics \(of Cancer/Capricorn\). As far as humans are concerned the difference between a crustal shift and a change in obliquity is likely moot. Both will be catastrophic (we think?) in their impacts. Nonetheless, there are actually more layers of support for the secondary level descriptor of an [obliquity change], than there are for the [pole shift]. Restated, the data sets that we have now forming are weighted toward a very bizarre planetary long range future in which the [twist] is indicated to [twitch], and the result is a [change in planetary alignment/obliquity]. The weighting for the [pole shift] linguistic set which centers on the [crustal movement] language is relatively static while the [alignment/obliquity] linguistics are growing. Note that the [alignment/obliquity alteration] linguistics also contain a sub set for [crustal movement], but this is focused on [volcanoes] and [rips/tears] rather than a general swing-about.

There continue to be aspect/attribute sets which accrue in support of the [earthquake] in December. The actual range in December has been noted in modelspace to extend from December 3rd out to January 5th, but the spot of the largest accretion of groups of support within that range is December 10th through the 12th. This is also when the [visibility] sub set summations are at their peak. Further, the sub set of [earthquake] for December, while having a 32/thirty-two to 36/thirty-six degree latitude band for the 'center' of this particular earthquake series, also are indicating a [radiating/extending northward] pattern of impact. The [northward/north bound] direction of this [earthquake] will somehow be more significant relative to the [damage caused than other potential directions. Further the [location] of the [epicenter] is indicated to have something of a [joke/pun], or other [playful quality] associated with the local name.

The Terra entity has had growth in the supporting layers of a number of sets which are themselves acting as support via cross links to the GlobalPop and Populace/USofA sets of [food supplies]. The data sets seemingly indicate that Terra intrusions this Fall and Winter will produce some [dramatic] new [crises within the area of the [food supplies]. This is showing as being planetary in scope. Some of the supporting layers for this area are [ocean] based sets and are being interpreted as describing a [pollution event], or a [big mud wave] which has a very large level of global impact. This [mud wave] is shown as developing over the course of [hours] such that it will be able to be observed from Space. The [mud wave] may be the result of sub oceanic volcanoes producing an underwater form of a lahar, but without regard to its cause, the effects are to be devastating relative to global food supplies. The data suggests that large scale, commercial ocean fishing may be [curtailed indefinitely] in the regions affected, and further that the size of the area impacted is described within the new aspect/attribute sets as being [continental]. The [viewable from Space] sub set indicates that the [mud wave] will [rival] the size of [africa]. The duration values are suggesting that humans will be dealing with the [mud wave] for at least a [5/five year] period.

GlobalPop - Zionista Uber Alles, BlowBack

Our data sets continue to show growth around the [iran war] meme. As may be expected, much of this is due to the conscious debates out-and-about over 'will they/won't they'... as evidence of [intent] grows with each report of [military movements] within the region. To reiterate, we have had a linguistic structure within both the GlobalPop and the Populace/USofA which we have labeled from its primary supporting aspect/attribute sets as the [israeli mistake]. For emphasis, perhaps we should be further highlighting it as [THE israeli mistake]. This is due to the [dire consequences] indicated by the detail level aspect/attribute set for this [brutal stupidity]. Our data sets describe an attack likely the brief [iran war] in which the [zionists] bring about the simultaneous defeat of the [american and israeli combined forces], as well as initiating an [environmental disaster] which causes [vast economic hardship], and [global loss of income]. It is this [environmental disaster] resulting from the [mistake planning] which produces the [pariah state] and [global shunning] of all things [israeli]. The data sets indicate that [embassies] are [destroyed], and [passports not honored], as well as the more mundane [global boycott], including a curious and very specific reference to [diamonds]. A very large percentage of the [pissed off people] who will be directly impacted by the [israeli mistake caused environmental disaster] include [india], and [southern china]. Note that this continued reaction and emotional venting by the GlobalPop goes on for years. In the lower levels of the detail aspect/attribute sets the linguistics provide for [cursing (of israel/zionists) for 4/four generatio (of) harm/death/maiming]. Hmmm. Probably not a good sign.

And lest we forget, the whole of the [israeli mistake] begins with the [unexpected] and [abrupt defeat/destruction] of the [attackers]. Previous data sets had indicated as much as a [50/fifty percent loss/reduction]. This was focused on the first [contact/meeting (of the) opposing forces]. The data sets f the [israeli mistake] are supported by linguistic sets such as [non-cohesion], [disruptions], [destruction], [chaotic realignment], [breaking (of) bonds/boundaries], [sudden loss of separation], [peak of instability], and other large sets which do not bode well. Further other aspect/attribute sets go to the idea that [instability spreads], and [destruction] of [resources] which include a specifically stated [1/one of 2/two], or [one-half] of all the [attackers]. Not tha [iran] will not also suffer greatly, but the data seems to be focused within the GlobalPop entity on the results of the [attack] being so catastrophic, and not tl actual [battle/attack] of the moment. This further is reinforced by the [neighbors] of [iran] who will suffer the most (immediately), and thus the [global pogrom/backlash against israel] begins.

Much of the [damage] sub set of the [iran conflict] sub set of the GlobalPop entity is [economic] based, and further, the vast majority of the geographic and social references point to the [populace/usofa] sub set. This also includes the illusionary [populace/usofa-bilderberger] sub set. Again, the larger set of t [destruction] and [damage] comes from the [economic] sub sets which are in support of this lexical group. While there are certainly a number of [military] sub sets, and repeated supporting sets going to the idea of various [armies] out causing problems, the data sets are even so more heavily weighted toward the [economic], and [life work/life support] sub sets.

As a referential integrity check against the [conflict/tensions/war] sub set with GlobalPop entity, we examined the Press entity for the late September through October period and have discovered that the 'meme of the moment' does shift dramatically, and rapidly over to [army/military] during this month. For those sub sets within the Press entity, sub set [military] and which are associated with the [zionista attack on iran], the supporting sets go to the idea of a [water war] in which the events [on/under the waters] will [settle the matter] within [minutes/hours]. There are indications that the [water wars] will be [abrupt] and [shocking] in the [scope] and [simplicity] of the [strategy]. The Press entity is seemingly indicating that a very large amount of the [emotional trauma] which will be [displayed] on the teevee will reflect the [shocking stupidity] of the [zionista forces] to be [vulnerable] to the [water on water strategy]. Not that this is very clear. Apparently it will be more so when the global media stream starts reporting it. Again, the larger mass of the Press entity new linguistic sets supporting the [military] sub set accrue to the entity from very early October onward. Further the supporting sets within the Press entity which have the most cross links over to the GlobalPop entity around the [military] sub set are terminating in a sub set that we are labeling as [the great removal] or [the great passing over]. The idea within the data set is that a number which will meet the definition of [great] will be used to describe the [casualties] of this war sub set. The details suggest that the Press entity will be using this [great number] incessantly as the [talking heads] try to come to grips with the [sudden] and [shocking] change in the [planetary power structure].

ThePowersThatBe - Potholes, Opposition, Charity

Woe! Whow! Wow!....it sure doesn't look good for the people we all love to hate, those-who-think-they-own-us, our would-be-slave-masters, the [illuminati].

The data sets are going to the idea that the [internet] has reached a [critical mass] relative to the [funding sources] for the [illuminati]. The data sets are showing that ThePowersThatBe entity has [fear] as its driving forces in the internal structures associated with [funding sources]. There are [front facing] problems which magnify the [fear] about the [continuation] of the [whole/complete] underpinnings of the [power system/structures]. The [funding sources] are only a small component of the total internal [fear] sub set within ThePowersThatBe. Their [fear] levels have gone up such that there are now, directly held, supporting references for the [revolution] meta data layer. And this is a subordinate [fear] sub set under the [disappeared fear]. This [fear of disappeared] is now gaining further support from sets which include aspect/attributes such as [breakdown] and [abrogation]. Hmmm. As in 'treaties'.....

Some of the [disappeared fears] are supported by a [fear of acceleration (of events)]. There is a clear link to late [october], and the [fears] that a [single incident] will actually [occur]. The data seemingly is suggesting that the ThePowersThatBe have an internal 'prophecy' or 'prediction' which they have been [actively dreading]. The probability of the [incident] has apparently taken a couple of large steps toward [manifestation], and this is now becoming well known within ThePowersThatBe. The [incident] seemingly involves a [single farm/farming household/rural activity] and [aliens/appearances]. In this data set there are explicit references to a [surprise reaction] which is the apparently [feared] component. The data sets indicate that a direct connection exists between the [incident (of the) farmers], and the [destruction (by fire) of the document]. Curiously the [documents] sub set within this group is described by its supporting sets as a [document (from the) sky]. Hmmm. Anyway, the [incident] is seen as [sparking] the [final break] of the [document].

The [illuminati] [fear] over the [funding sources] is internally labeled as their [avenue] which is an internal euphemism for the [path (to) riches/power]. The [fear] sub set is very directly affected by the [avenue] developing all these [potholes] which have apparently started to severely impact their [flow of power/funds]. There is very much [fear] associated with the potential for the [collapse] of the [avenue].

The data accretion patterns for the TPTB entity have a very key [point of restriction] coming this Fall. The [point of restriction] aspect/attribute set is supported by [opposition] as its primary sub set, and further the [opposition] sub set is directly supporting the [planetary populace movement] in the GlobalPop entity. The [opposition] sub set is also directly supporting of the [revolution] meta data layer, and is participating in the [surreal] sub set within the populace entities. The [opposition] is set to begin this [winter], after the [power shifts] shown as beginning in Fall. This sub set is not directly connected to the [fears of disappearing] sub set which will bring so much angst to ThePowersThatBe. Rather the [opposition/rebellion] sub set is a separate track for [problems] which will [spill out of/come from] the [power shifts] of Fall. These [problems] are shown to include not only [loss of revenue streams] but also [murders], and [kidnappings], and [assaults] of all kinds. The TPTB entity has an aspect/attribute set of [reeling] with support from [staggering], and [incomprehensible] to add to the image of universe presenting a whole lot of [things don't work out the way they were planned] on TPBT plate. The [opposition] sub set has a rising [visibility] sum which is indicating that the story of the [opposition] as the beginning of the end of the [illuminati power/control structures] will become generally known. This is a very significant lexical set which has been building for several years now, and from which the [transformation] label for 2009 takes its primary descriptors of [deep seated/core level change].

Further problems are indicated by TPTB entity in that a big sign for the [controllers] will be the [repudiation/abandonment] of [giving to organized charity], as well as the [dramatic reduction] in the [coffers/treasures] being taken in by [organized religion]. Both of these sub sets are in direct support of the [control structures] sub set. This area is very emotionally significant for TPTB and shows that by late in March, many of the [churches] will be [broke] and [failing] as their [assets] are [reduced/looted]. Further there are indication that the whole [prosperity ministry industry] including its [media sector] will be [at risk] due to [seizures], and [investigations]. The data is indicating that several more instances of [child abuse] will be surfacing which will play into the problems for [organized charity]. Further the [crushing (of the) spending patterns] by the [new poverty] here in the USofA will further exacerbate the [draw down] of [financial resources] for TPTB.

Markets - Metals, Drain, Exposure

The recent reversal of the pricing on commodities, including [gold/silver], and [energy] have been part of the support for manifestation of the forecast [2/two months of more buoyant mood] within the Markets which was always stated to be an effort at [emotional engineering] on the part of ThePowersThatBe. The recent price destruction around [paper commodities] such as [gold/futures contracts] is in spite of the appearance of the [doubling] word within the main stream media over the last 2/two months relative to [gold/silver]. There have been uses of the [double] word and some of its supporting sets within main stream (albeit British) financial media where it is noted that the "purchase of gold for personal holdings" in Greater Britain had 'doubled, year over year'. Further [silver], especially at the level of [coins], sales have more than [doubled] year-over-year, and this includes those sales within the USofA. Sooo....while sales are doubling within the physical possession sub group of a [gold/silver] transactions, the price has been hammered down. Again, we note that this is 'coincident' with the 2/two months of more buoyant mood within the Markets, as well as the time in which the [dollar] has staged a 'stunning' rise against the Euro to its highest level in 4/four years. Again, also coincident with the notification to the planet that the [usofa military] has [embarked an armada] heading toward [iran]. Much of the [dollar] moves over the past few years have been coincident with the [fortunes on the ground] of the [usofa military] as ThePowersThatBe use the [military] to enforce their [corportocracy].

This too is but a temporary circumstance. It is very likely that all of the recent price reversals will be [released] along with the shift into the emotional release language period on or about October 7th. Basically, the current change of trends is entirely at the expense of large [expenditures of energy] by ThePowersThatBe. This is in response to their particular [fear] sets, though the data sets are indicating a number of [unintended consequences/side effects] from the [energy use]. These [side effects] will be showing up in the [creation of [opposition], as well as the [denuding/exposing] of the [press], and perhaps most significantly, in the [draining] of the [usofa dollar]. The imagery suggests a [vessel cracked] and [leaking] with [increasing amounts] of input needed to maintain the water level in an attempt to [hide/obscure] the [cracks/breaks]. Then after prodigious effort, the [flows stop], and the [vessel rapidly drains to empty]. The supporting sub sets are pointing to an [abandonment] of the [markets] by regular humans en masse such that the [press] and the [pundits] are [struggling] to [explain] the [drain]. This sub set is also supporting the [death of the dollar] meme which becomes all bound up within the many [economic catastrophes] of Fall, and the various [military conflicts] which spring up as a response to the [economic uncertainty].

Part of the problems besetting the speculators and money 'managers' over the rest of Summer and through Fall has to do with the large shift into release language in October and more specifically, an undertone in the emotional alliance of the [regular humans] within the [populace]. The idea coming across is that the events over Summer will raise the [belief/allegiances factor] to the fore of the [social contract]. This is to say that the data suggests that the [common person/citizen] will [no longer believe in/accept the worth of paper markets]. The idea is that a threshold of emotional value has been or soon will be reached that will have the [citizens] actually [changing their perception (in the face of manifesting circumstances)] about their [core level] and [socially instilled] belief in the 'markets' as a good thing. This [change in belief] in [fairness] and [worth] of the [markets] will be coinciding with a number of nasties for the populace including [food shortages], [severe weather], and then the whole [global wars] problems. What results is a [repudiation] of the [markets as worth while] belief that begins to [change behavior patterns] over the course of this Fall. The continued and [worsening] problems for the [usofa dollar] do cause an acceleration in the process, but are not a proximate cause. Rather it is the [growing exposure] wave within alternative media which is to blame for this [emotive release of belief systems]. There are indications that the emotive [wave of unbelief] is somehow to be directly fueled by the [evangelicals unburden] circumstances of December.

Conclusion: ALTA 509 - Part Five:- Oh-oh for monkey mind! New Times Human!

Monkey mind loves numbers. Monkey mind loves little discrete facts. Monkey mind focuses on the small, easily held, and then expands whatever is in its grasp to fill the whole of its perceptual universe. Monkey mind loves order and structure. The monkey mind obsesses about the minutia of patterns, ignoring larger contexts. Monkey mind deliberately limits its focus to only that particular small item of the moment, getting captured anew with each new small item in each new moment. Monkey mind loves generalizations extracted from single case instances. It paints all of its universe the colors of what ever has captured its attention that instant.

This Fall will not be a good time for monkey mind. The pending plethora of problems which precipitate the plunge into release language in October will send monkey mind into a tizzy of activity trying to grasp each small circumstance as they fleetingly pass by. Reacting to the temporal debris swirling past will drive monkey mind to near exhaustion trying to grasp and understand the whole of the disasters by examining each bit of flotsam.

So the message is to not feed the monkey. The nature of the release language this Fall and though Winter, at its core, has more to do with the total level of acceleration of manifesting circumstances than any individual set of occurrences. There will be no single issue which drives it all. The [israeli mistake] will be [horrific], but is only a very minor part of the total picture. Fixation on the search for a single causal event is both a waste of time, and ultimately fruitless as it is the changes in the temporal layers themselves which will be revealed in the flows of the unexpected manifestations over Fall and Winter.

The shift into emotional tension release language in October will be the first manifestations of some very large changes in the planetary social order. The limitations of language come into play here, as 'large' just does not cover the real nature of the changes. Monumental means that after the fact, in future generations, 'monuments' will be built to this time. And that may be the case, but for those of us living it, 'monumental' is just not the proper adjective to apply to these coming months/years from October of 2008 through December of 2012.

Epic. Yes. But even that is a very poor descriptor for what universe is sending our way in its new times. Again, the limitations of language surface as it is probably impossible to use words bound by time to describe what is on the other side of the time horizon. Kind of like a zen koan intended to shock the rational/monkey mind out of the way so enlightenment can express itself. So, says the rishi to the student, what color is not seen? What sensation is not felt? What sound is not heard? What time is on the other side of human?
