Meta Data - Evolution at work

As the data sets alter with new supporting values, we frequently see growth patterns within the various lexicon based descriptors which provide the permanent word/phrase/context sets against which the entities are constructed. Make sense? Anyway, the data sets push back in a sense by providing consistent support at a top tier level such that words, phrases, or the occasional context are moved into the descriptor set for an entity sub set within the lexicon. This happens routinely, but usually the changes are small in relation to the totality of the sets within the descriptor, so not much changes other than producing a bit of robustness in some supporting aspect/attribute of the descriptor set. Kind of like someone setting out on the body building path and using resistance training. At first, the once slack muscles really don't do much more than contract through use/stress, and then ask the body for some of that delicious fat to help the repair process. At some point however, assuming an increasing diet sufficient to the demands being placed on the body by the hardening muscles, and reducing fat levels, there will be a spurt of more visible changes as the muscle mass begins to grow. Again, as this process continues, first gradual, and within the 'confines' of the original body image, there will come a point where a visible change comes along that actually alters the body such that it now does not really resemble so much the 'original' state of pre-exercise body. We have had that occur at a couple of very significant points within the data set.

The first is the creation, or evolution of a whole new entity that we have named after the primary descriptor set which is OmniHumanity. Now we note that this is still a very tenuous collection of sets, and the entity may not survive future processing, still though, there exists now a general movement for a [holistic view of humanity] that is manifesting globally, and from which the [planetary populace movement] may actually find its [philosophic roots] prior to its manifestation over Summer/Fall of this year.

The second area of linguistic evolutionary change is related to the new entity, but is at a deeper level in a sense as it is within the meta data layers and the descriptors which have formed them. Several of the mutually reinforcing meta data layers such as [duality], and [revolution] are undergoing change via rapid growth at the descriptor levels. In the case of [revolution], when this meta data layer first appeared in the Populace/USofA entity over 5/five years ago, it was initially defined by [rebellion]. There are distinct differences between [rebellion] and [revolution]. As time, and the rounds of data processing progressed, we gradually found [rebellion] adding more and more supporting aspect/attribute sets for [revolution], and for a while in the process, we referred to the meta data layer as [rebellion/revolution]. We now are in a similar period in that, once again, that particular meta data layer is growing outside of its defining descriptor set. We have now changed the label to be [revolution/x-change]. The [x-change] context needs to be read as [eXtreme change], and as [x-change (controlling systems (new replacing old))], as well as [extreme (personal) change], and other contexts which are still developing. In the totality of the context, the [x-change] can also be thought of as 'pick a spot, any object, any subject', and there will be [extreme change] affecting that [intersection of spot (in time), subject, object]. The intent is to capture the levels of change within the lexicon at the moment, and to track their evolution as processing goes forward. It might be that future processing will produce yet more labels within this meta data layer.

OmniHumanity - Coterie d'Hyperchroniacs

Occasionally we adjust the ranks of the entities to accommodate the many changes that appear in the linguistics over even short time such as 2/two years. This entity is representative of the human species in toto, and without regard to sub set divisions. This entity represents the amalgamation of the GlobalPop entity, the Populace/USofA entity, and the [unknown humans] sub set from SpaceGoatFarts. There is a [terra/earth] focus to this entity.

Within the new OmniHumanity entity, a very active sub set is headed by a context we are labeling as [hyper-chroniacs]. This sub set is complete and correct and properly populated, and yet remains confusing. This is likely indicative of a building emotional context continuing to grow at the primary and secondary descriptor levels. The sub set of [hyper-chroniacs] is still compelling, however incomplete. The descriptors and their primary supporting aspect/attribute sets for the [hyper-chroniacs] contains an intriguing hint that a [new form of mental functioning (specifically regarding time)] may be emerging, IF we are interpreting the data sets correctly. This [hyper-chroniacs] set does point to a [new perception of time], with supporting sets for [function], as well as [use/employment]. The other primary supporting sets include [fast reaction], and [previewing], and [anticipatory] (modified by [extreme]), and [long reach/far sight], as well as many other aspects in the same vein. There are also supporting aspect/attributes for [hyperdimension] conjunct to [viewing/seeing/manipulating] and other aspects of that type. We have geographic sub sets for both [france] and [germany] as primary [emergent site] for the [hyperchroniacs]. As the sub set, and the entity are both growing it is not yet possible for a determination of how soon there will be global media stream [visibility] of the [hyperchroniac condition], but there are now sets that indicate a small level of [exposure] for some of the larger effects of the [hyperchroniac condition/syndrome] to begin to emerge over Summer as a barely [visible] thread amidst the larger chaos of human and other news.

The [hyper-chron-iacs] sub set participates via cross links to both Populace/USofA, and the GlobalPop entities, where it terminates in support of the [new paradigm/revolution] sub set. In this sub set, as is noted in discussion in previous ALTA series of the last 2/two years, the [consensus paradigm] within the [developed world (aka the 'colonized world' of TPTB)] will begin to {ed note: probably already has} [crumble] over the late Spring and Summer of 2009 such that a general [perception/feeling] of [disenfranchisement] will overtake the [populace] as a whole, inducing the [feeling/perception] of [living (in world of) surreality]. The data sets indicate that the [surreality], and the [dissolution] of the [collective social contract] will produce many odd phenomena, however the [hyper-chron-iac condition] will not be such. Instead the accretion patterns suggest that the [hyperchroniac state/condition] arises from the [unknown energies from space] concept as is held in the SpaceGoatFarts entity. The [hyperchroniac condition] sub set is showing as a very minor background element to the other, more obvious [strangeness/oddities] that will dominate the [global mediastream] over this year, however, by late in 2010, the [hyperchroniac syndrome] will be much more [visible], and according to the accrual patterns in the OmniHumanity entity, much more [useful/productive/engaging].

The [Coterie/bound-group] of the [hyperchroniacs] is indicated to produce bespoke [fear] within ThePowersThatBe entity, as well as within the [officialdom minion classes]. The cross links from the OmniHumanity entity, sub set [hyperchroniac condition], terminate in sets in TPTB entity that are supported at the primary level by [fear], and that aspect/attribute is supported its turn by sets going to the idea of [piss-on-yourself], and [shaking to the bone] and [flesh crawls off the skin] levels of [fear]. There are yet few sub sets in the detail layers of either entity to suggest why the TPTB are so afraid of the [hyperchroniac condition].

Within the OmniHumanity entity, a sub set found at the same level as the [Coterie of the hyperchroniac condition afflicted], and going to the idea of [sparks] is also cross linked extensively into the TPTB, sub set bespoke [fear]. This [spark] sub set in OmniHumanity is associated with the [south], and is supported at the primary level by [enormous/huge] and other adjectives going to the idea of [very damn large]. As the modelspace is progressed from Spring of 2009 through to the end of Spring 2010, the [hyperchroniac condition], and the [spark (of energy)] sets continue to grow both in supporting aspect/attribute as well as emotional sums within the cross links over to TPTB entity. Again, the continuation of the pattern is to [prompt] or [induce] the [fear] in TPTB. At the point that modelspace is brought past the vernal equinox in March of 2010 the [hyperchroniac condition] starts to gain cross links over to areas within the Populace/USofA and the GlobalPop entities where the primary supporting aspect/attribute sets participate in the [contact] meme, and further are cross linked back to that context within the SpaceGoatFarts entity. The [fear] sub set within the TPTB entity has a core linguistic structure that describes the [engineered paternalism (of the social order)], and its [supplanted] by the [spontaneous arising] of a [divine feminine] centered [social collective consensus]. The [loss of power] at all levels is the primary supporting aspect/attribute set for the bespoke [fear] sub set of TPTB.

The OmniHumanity entity also encompasses a set that contains the majority of the [planetary populace movement] sub set. This set, within this entity is holding supporting sets that derive from the longer term values, and are temporally associated with 2014 through 2019. The data would seem to indicate a real period of [strife] and [contention] against a wide range of [forces] that gradually winds down and settles out of modelspace in Winter, 2016/2017.

Markets - The Wall

The accepted 'wisdom', at this time, of [government] and [minion class of officialdom] globally is that the [giant corporations] must be injected with massive, indeed [planetary], doses of [currency, paper debt] in order to prevent their [falling] upon the [economic world]. The [government] bespoke [fear] is that [falling giants] will [crush] the [planetary economy] and [wipe out globalism], and the [corporate 'free trade'] movement. AND most importantly, as is revealed by the intense cross links over to the ThePowersThatBe (TPTB) entity, they [fear] the [specific consequences] of [loss of power] over the [masses/hoards].

Soooo... given the way the linguistics are growing in support of various sub sets of the Markets, and other entities, we suspect that from now through to about July 14th, to have a period of [buoyed up], or [inflated emotions] impacting the [markets]. That this will be a [grand stage/set] for the [realization (of the) consequences/outcome (of) unrealistic/fantasy exuberance] will not matter. The TPTB are showing in the data accretion patterns as [pumping] up the [emotional state] of the [developed world] (especially within the populace of the USofA), through [deliberate], and [sneaky] methods within the [press], mainly through teevee.

There are many sub sets in support of the idea that [government/officialdom faces] will be lying [fiercely] over these next few months as a [picture] of [promising economic prognosis] is [promulgated publicly (for) political profit]. The Markets entity data sets in support of the [propaganda effort] suggest that this will be undertaken as a [direct defense] against the [building emotional tensions] that we have forecast as a component of the [summer of hell]. The [government] sub set within Markets suggests that [massive 'revisions'] will be taking place in order to [promote] a [positive outlook]. This area is under the influence of the [duality] and [secrets revealed] meta data layers. This presents a picture of [promising propaganda] being played out by [pundits] over the [growing] but [hidden] [miseries] within the [populace]. Hmmm... enough 'p' words?

As the Markets entity is progressed through the [spring] and [summer], the [more optimistic perception] being [pimped] by [politicians and officialdom] runs head first into the [slap] of [sobering reality] as the [usofa economy (and the dollar)] take a [sharp turn] into [coagulation] and [contraction] beginning very shortly after October 26th. The first real [visible] effects in the global media stream are forecast to show up around November 4th or 5th. The thread thus started continues in a general growth state into further [contraction and coagulation] all the way through to September of 2010. PLEASE NOTE: the [coagulation] of the [economy] here in the [usofa] does not end in 2010, but rather is [profoundly/deeply transformed] over Fall of 2010, and then the trend line continues out through to the mid Summer of 2012.

As the [pimped promises of spring (promised for summer)], especially as relates to the [dollar] and the [financial corporations (including banksters of all stripes)], [stumble] into [harsh reality] beginning with some seriousness in mid July (2009), the [promises machine] of [officialdom] begins to be [impacted] by larger quantities of [excrement] from universe in all directions. There are Terr entity cross links indicating that both the [shifting weather patterns] as well as the [resource depletions] will [remove] a very [key component] from the [underpinnings] of the [political propaganda]. The [exposure] of the [officialdom duplicity campaign] will ramp up over early Fall such that the [populace/usofa] begins to [perceive] more of the [coagulation] potential *just as the whole [dollar based paper debt abstraction scheme] hits a [reality wall] late October. Note that it will take about 10/ten days for the [shockwave] of the [paper debt/dollar collision] with [reality] to become [visible].

The [shockwave] of [dollar death] is indicated to [emerge] from the [collision] of [greed] and [lying] [scandals] within [citigroup] {ed note: specifically within citigroup is focused, but much of its problems do not really come out until after December 2009.}. None the less, the [economic contraction] first appears within the [banksters] sector with [bank of america], and [citigroup] leading the way. Huge levels of supporting aspect/attribute sets going to the idea of [contraction], and [deflation] are being modified, and reinforced by such other descriptors as [horrific], and [lethal]. These aspect/attributes grow from November 2009 through all of 2010 for the [bankster sector] including the [federal reserve banksters]. In early 2011, just as the [planetary populace movement (aka 'revolution')] goes [globally active], the [banksters] encounter their most [severe conditions]. Much of the supporting sets arriving in late 2011 are shifting over to [personal] expressions, and therefore the Markets entity may be forecasting [trials], and [suffering] for the [actual 'owners'] of the [bankster organizations], rather than merely [economic hardships].

The Markets entity is showing that the [obama administration] is part of the [planetary collective] of the [elite], and will not be doing anything, such as [prosecutions] to upset the [power class/status]. Rather the reverse is actually indicated all through Spring and Summer with a specific [push] coming from the [obama administration] in Fall to [prop up/support] the [guilty] as the [usofa economy] is [wounded] by its [impact] with [reality (of) dollar death].

As the Markets entity progresses through the [summer of hell], the indications are that the [banksters] and other [dollar bandits] are mostly [unaware] and [completely unconcerned] with the [growing misery of the populace]. Some of their concerns do seem to focus on the [drug wars] and the [escalations] of inter-American conflict, but in the main, their primary worries go to the [rising planetary populace movement], the descriptors of which include the [opting out/rejection] of the [banking/paper debt system] by increasing [millions] of people.

There are indicators that the [duality] layer will be on display by universe this [summer] as the [emotional buoyancy] being [sold] by the [politicians] and [corrupt government numbers] slightly props up the [bank of america], and [citigroup] and [aig], among other [dollar players]. The data sets show a 'good run' for these fellows from early May, say around the 6th through to the 15th (so, depending on how rapidly the [officialdom misdirection campaign] gets traction, and continuing through most of [summer] until about mid to late August. Then there is a hiatus of sorts, a small plateau of emotional neutrality that extends through to October 26th, when the [impact] with the [reality wall] manifests.

And then the future of the [dollar] is [visible] as a [question of survival] after November.

GlobalPop - Stormy Weather

The data accretion patterns for all of late 2009 within the GlobalPop entity are indicating that the [chinese] will be at the [center] of the emerging [dollar storm] of Summer, as well as at the [nexus] of the [crises tipping points] in late October (26th or so) through the initial phase of November/December. The data sets are accruing in patterns that support the [duality], and [revolution/x-change] meta data layers both directly and through cross links to both the Populace/USofA and the Markets entity.

As the [dollar storm (of words/expletives)] develops over [summer], the [pressures] on the [political structures] at a more or less global level, though with emphasis on USofA and China, grows such that by late August, the aware observer may be able to discern the patterns that will [erupt] {ed note: reference to volcanoes obliquely intended} in late October and dominate the remainder of the year. These patterns as they relate to the [dollar storm] will exhibit some common characteristics around specific language. The language involved will be appearing in late August, and may just be very [visible] to the aware observer. What we are finding in our data is hints of a [prepared pattern] which is indicated to appear [lightly] in late August, and then with seriousness after October 26th building to real [viability] from November 5 onward.

Simultaneous with the manifestation of the [dollar storm(s)] across late Spring and Summer, the GlobalPop entity is indicating that [social stresses] will be affecting many parts of the [global populace] as a result of the [storm(s)] of [atmosphere], and [oceans], and [magma/volcanoes]. The [social discontent storms] that will sweep across segments of the [global populace] all through Spring and Summer are directly tied to the impacts of the [dollar death] theme discussed now for several years in these reports. Now the data sets are accruing [planetary physical systems storms] as an adjunct to the [social disruption storms] brought about by the [death of the dollar] across the planet. The [physical systems storms] are indicated to significantly impact both the [populace] as well as the [populace to political ruling class relationship] due to the levels of [damage] and [disruption (of basic services)]. These are further problems for those locally affected in that the level of [resources] necessary to [repair/replace] the [damage] to the [social infrastructure] as so [large] as to be shown within the data as [never being implemented].

There are aspect/attributes in support of [storms] which derive directly from, and are directly supporting, the [global coastal phenomena] sub set, and further they go on to suggest that the [storms] of Summer 2009 are a [rehearsal] for the [weather problems] of 2010. The [transformation] meta data layer gains large levels of the totality of its support in 2009 from the [storms] of the various kinds cited and their impacts on the [emotional stability] of global humanity.

SpaceGoatFarts - Sicko, Noisy Rain

Within the SpaceGoatFarts entity is a sub set of considerable size, perhaps nearing 20/twenty percent of the total descriptors within the entity, for the [solar system]. This sub set, when progressed along with the entity, and model space, through 2009, gains a primary supporting aspect/attribute set for [illness]. The [illness] aspect/attribute set does provide some of the [symptom] list that any aware observer could likely rattle off, including pan solar system climate change, and [other (anomalous) energetic behavior], however its most interesting parts are related to [small items] and [built/constructed (movement of space objects)]. Both of these are internally cross linked into support for the [contact] meme. The [small items] sub set itself is large and contains many supporting aspect/attribute sets which are also internally cross linked. The [small items] sub set seems to imply that not all of the 'items' will be rocks or asteroids or comets. Rather its supporting sub sets include descriptors for, as well as cross links to, [contact] and [devices/traveling means/spaceships/interdimensional travel devices]. The growth patterns and rate within this sub set would seem to be forecasting a corresponding growth in the [visual perception] of the [small items/ufo's] over 2009. IF that is so, then we can expect perhaps as many [ufo/sightings] over the rest of this year as has occurred in all of the decade previously. Said another way just to clarify, the data accretion patterns for the SpaceGoatFarts entity, sub set [ufo's] is forecasting a veritable [blooming] of [sightings]. The cross links over to the populace entities are pointing to [so many/excessive sightings] as [producing] significant part of the [paradigm shift] previously forecast as part of the [transformation] effect of 2009.

The [illness] supporting sub set for [solar system] contains secondary levels of support from aspect/attribute sets including [ambitious], [THE broken mirror] [road sitting], [dropping projectile], [extreme emotional swing], and [misdirecting/trivializing reporting]. Taking each in turn, the [ambitious] sub set is cross linked internally to the [nasa/nsa/shadow gov't] sub set of the

SpaceGoatFarts entity, as well as being cross linked externally over to the Populace/USofA entity where it terminates in [NASA], and [Naval Intelligence]. The [ambitious] sub set is further supported by aspect/attribute sets going to the idea of [impacts], and [deferrals], and [postponement], and [abandoned], as well as [re-visiting/reworking/re-crafting]. The imagery coming from the detail aspect levels points to [so much/extreme solar system 'illness' or 'unsettledness'] that the [plans of shadow gov't] especially as [manifest by NASA] will be [requiring reworking] as so many of their [projects/plans] become [no longer feasible] or [precluded by solar system changes]. The supporting sub set of [THE broken mirror] contains support from aspect/attributes including [not able to be reunited], [forever separated], [propelled/forced apart] and others of similar vein. Further support comes from the cross links over to the [ufo] sub set within the entity, as well as the [nasa] sub set. The idea coming across, however unlikely it seems, is that a [ufo] will [break THE mirror]. Further sub sets as well as cross links back over to the Press entity, and the populace entities suggest that [press reports] will be so [numerous], with [visibility] so high in the global medistream that [lies] will be [ridiculed] in an [public/open] fashion. The [road sitting] supporting set includes aspect/attributes for [traveler], and [far distance], as well as [taking position], and [watchful], and [time involved/central]. Further aspect/attribute sets at lower levels describe an [agency] or [officialdom minion group] which will be [compelled] by [circumstances] both in [space] including the [immediate solar system], as well as [crumbling social contract] {ed note: perhaps dollar constrained as well} to [just sit] and [wait], with their [hands idle]. This is also indicated to not be [well received] by the [officialdom minion group] involved. The progression of the set over the course of the rest of 2009 shows that this [group] just may become the [central germination area] for the [whistleblowers]. There are large increases in the emotional tone sums in this sub set just as the [ufo] increase goes non linear later in 2009. The [dropping projectile] sub set is supported by aspect/attribute sets going to the idea of a [big oops!], or [mistake/accident] in which a [space vehicle] is [reportedly dropped]. The data sets are specific about the [reportedly] modifier which suggests that not all will be as is reported when this story becomes [visible] later in 2009. There are other sub sets in support for the [dropping projectile] which go to the idea of the [cascading failure set]. In this descriptor the idea is that [initiating failure] in a [single area (will) cascade failure across a system]. The [system(s)] involved include the [black ops] and [shadow gov't] sub sets of the SpaceGoatFarts entity. The [extreme emotional swing] sub set is supported by aspect/attributes indicating a [rapid jump] in [emotional range] to be [experienced/felt] by a [large portion] of the [populace]. This [emotional range] is described as being [so large] as to [feel violent] to those who [experience] it. The word [whipsawed] is appropriate. Further the [range of emotional swing] further described as being [so violent] as to [cause/induce lasting effects] which will [persist for years]. This sub set is isolated, not really cross linked into any other sub sets, so we don't yet have an 'object' for the emotional swing fixation and that implies that the set will likely continue to grow, and that perhaps it is further out in very late 2009.

Other aspects/attributes in general support of the [illness of the solar system] sub set grow in 2/two large pulses, the first of which extends from late in May through to the autumnal equinox in September, with the second occurring over Winter (2009/2010). The [illness of the solar system] is supported by descriptors going to the idea that the [strong forces] will not be affected [yet/now/at this time], but rather that the [weak forces] will be [impacted] and [dominated] by the [illness]. The [strong] versus [weak] forces is from a quantum physics view point.

As the [illness of the solar system] sub set grows with modelspace being advanced through 2009 and into 2010, the supporting sets start to form cross links to various areas of the populace entities, including providing a supporting relationship to the [diaspora] sub set which appears in both populace entities. The [diaspora] is to be somehow affected by the [solar system illness] in that the [illness afflicting the planets within the solar system] is shown to make it so that [people are unable to live together]. There is likely more support for this sub set in the future. Within the termination point within the Populace/USofa entity is a set of aspect/attributes that seem to produce a 'warning' to [stand back] and [wait out the bad times], rather than [join (with) the corrupt (officialdom)] who are shown as [emerging (from shadows/fogs)] to [offer exploitation] in the guise of [help/assistance]. This last is also connected to [traveling], and may be referring the infamous 'fema camps'.

There are also other sub sets within both secondary support and detail layers of aspect/attributes which go to the idea that the [solar system illness], newly [visible] over Summer, will be linked back to [persistent], and [terrible conditions] relative to [precipitation]. Again the data sets, from a differing viewpoint are referencing [severe] or [extreme] changes in [precipitation patterns] at a [global level], that will range from [killing drought] over to [enveloping mud slides] as [mountains] are [liquefied/saturated] and then [run (like) slurry downhill]. There are some indications for [huge noises] that are not 'thunder', but which will nonetheless be associated with [new rain patterns]. This area may be referring to the same phenomena described in the Terra entity as [rain: (so hard)] as to [cause/deafness] and to [disrupt radio signals (at all frequencies)]. Indeed, the [new rain patterns] have a sub set within the SpaceGoatFarts entity which provides support for the idea that the [rains/precipitation] will be so [violent] as to [form a curtain] that will [block lasers].

Within the [weather pattern changes] set in the Terra entity there are cross links over to the GlobalPop entity, as well as the Populace/USofA entity where the termination points are within sub sets that then cross link back over to the SpaceGoatFarts entity where they terminate in the [self(less) actions], and [smart decisions] sub sets that are pointing to several very [visible] instances of [personal resourcefulness] which will be coming to a [press outlet] near you in late Summer or early Fall. The data suggests that the [press] will be describing several, discrete, and globally scattered instances of [personal initiative] which will [provide a path/lead] large numbers of [people/animals] to [safety] out of [conditions] of [abnormal precipitation] which are directly related (according to the SpaceGoatFarts entity) to the [illness of solar system].

In 1/one of these incidents the descriptor sets go to a [second-rater/lower functioning] personality who has been [granted authority] that is waaaaay beyond their ability. Hmmm...now where have we heard that before? And this [second rate personality] gets into very [dire predicament] relating to the [local planetary effects] of the [solar system illness]. This personality is described as [presenting very bad ideas], and [acting as an ass/donkey]. The situation is described as actually being [aggravated] by the [lack of presence/decisions] from this [second rate official]. Then, in the midst of the [rising waters?/abnormal precipitation], a person who is [acting selfishly] but apparently [intelligently] will [step out (from old patterns of kowtowing to authority)], and [lead the way out]. Later this will [induce repercussions] from the [minion class] of the [officialdom], but the data sets are indicating that late in 2009, a [cadre (of) like minded individuals] provide support which [pushes authority] away from its stated intentions.

There are descriptors for other incidents of similar nature in which [locals] provide their [own/self rescue] in spite of, and seemingly [to spite] the [desire of authority]. In such an incident again involving [rising waters] conjoined to [abnormal precipitation patterns], a [mountain dwelling person] {ed note: female descriptors here} is seen as [tying to] or [linking to], or [associating] or [providing] the [group/local populace] with [means of survival] from [knowledge of mulberry shoots/roots]. This incident has a very high level of [visibility] though it is focused on the [cyrillic alphabet] with some small component of [greek] in support. Still it does seem likely that the [incident] will get global play in the mediastream. Again a very strange supporting set which would label this the [noisy/dangerous rains].

As threatening as the SpaceGoatFarts entity sub set of [solar system illness] may seem to be, it does have the required 'silver lining' in that there are many data sets pointing to the [conditions] which [smack/hit earth/terra] as a result of the [solar system illness] will, over the course of 2009, be clear temporal markers for the [end of stagnation], and the [acceleration] into [epic changes]. Though the data sets are pointing to a [quickenning of changes], the very first such [change] will be, paradoxically, a shift from the [abnormal weather patterns], into [standstill/quiescence]. This is described as being [so profound] [quiet/stillness] as to [cause alarm]. Fortunately, it is merely the first of the [epic] level of changes to be [experienced], and will be followed in due course by some real [planetary chaos].

The 'peak' conditions for the [weather quickening/changes] is forecast to last f [11/eleven months], and to be severely [impacting] of [planetary food supplies]. This relates to both plant and (for the carnivores) animals. The effects of this [weather pattern changes] are being forecast to be [personally felt/experienced] at a [planetary scale] by late in Summer 2009, with expected linguistics to continue to build over the whole of Spring and Summer as the process of [solar system illness] deepens its hold on our planet.

Also a curious note has several temporal markers coming up which will be linguistically tied to [blue], and [yang/yin energies], and other [esoteric expressions] of [universal energy] which will be entering the mainstream media as a result of the [discoveries] to occur this coming Fall. These linguistic markers will be tied to the [conditions of solar system illness] and are described as [unsettling] a significant portion of the populace, while quixotically being [reassuring] to a small, but still significant portion of the planetary populace.

As a small part of the over all [freshening] of [events/occurrences] of Summer 2009, the data sets are forecasting the very first rising to [visibility] of the [2/two thieves (of ancient/space alien technology from officialdom)] and their [disclosure mission]. Again the [visibility] will be very small due to [suppression/oppression] efforts on the part of ThePowersThatBe, but it is forecast to be discernable by the aware observer, and as we capture the linguistics appearing, we will provide what may appear in the press. Bear in mind that the story, as TPTB will instruct their minions, will not be as we have related it here, but elements that link to our descriptors should be [visible] within the [press output/disinformation/bullshit]. More as is pertinent in other parts of this series.

Conclusion: ALTA 1309 - Part Two :- Wriggling Toes, Minutia moment, Jumping

The recent eruption of the underseas volcano near Tonga, and the related near great earthquake and aftershocks are not reassuring signs. The whole of the southern ocean region is chock-a-block full of volcanoes, and the data sets that we have indicate magma movement is on the increase. Further the data sets seem to promise a continuation of the increasing volcanic activity over the next 3/three years. This will naturally be associated with an increase in earthquakes and other related phenomena. Further, the forecast shift in atmospheric weather patterns is indicated to bring volcanic ash and dust and gases to areas of the planet not frequently so affected. Also the shift in atmospheric weather pattern is indicated to be directly related to changes in oceanic current patterns which themselves are (now and through 2017) directly affected by volcanic activity both on land and undersea. It should come as no surprise to note that the [magma activity] is tied (at least in our data sets) directly to the [unknown (an increasing) energies from space]. And so it goes...the toe bone is connected to the foot bone, and so it goes...

The recent eruption and the subsequent release of the rather spectacular video has raised the level of linguistics related to the larger [global coastal phenomena] sub set. If we are correct then we can view these recent occupancies *(and those of the next 3/three weeks) as a 'blip' in the progression of manifesting circumstances that bring us to the mid to late May linguistic bulge that forms the slightly over 5/five month range forecast for the [global coastal phenomena]. Will it turn out to be all talk about hypothetical, or long range fears of global coastal change? Or do the recent eruption, and land building near Tonga suggest actual manifestation? The video of the eruption, and the subsequent (to the eruption) near great quake (7.9, a 'great' quake is at 8.0 and larger), have produced language in the global media stream that merge with the [ocean rising forecast] and [fearscience] noted in previous reports of this series, and so far...it would seem that universe is slowly moving toward greater expression of this theme. It needs to be noted that underseas volcanic activity may alter current flows at planet affecting levels, and yet it may take months for humans to feel the effects. And even longer to 'officially' discover the cause. So the current developments *(and those of the next 3/three weeks) relative to Terra and weather changes might be the very first [visible] signs of the May to November [global coastal phenomena] emerging.

As the planetary, and solar system changes emerge over 2009 it will be necessary to repeatedly recall Bucky Fuller's admonition, "don't fight forces, use them". The changes and forces presenting themselves over 2009 have been forecast by our data sets to propel omnihumanity into [transformation]. Since there are a whole lot of humans packed into omnihumanity, it will take a few years, nearly a decade actually, for the [transformation] to fully unfold. However, it started this year, and accelerates noticeably from Summer forward. Again we note that even the other planets and our sun are involved in the process. This repeated admonition references to the other parts of solar system is intended to provoke an understanding of just how [epic] and [monumental] are these days/times.

By maintaining a point of view from solar system inward to terra, and then the concerns, problems and issues of humans, it is possible to avoid becoming wrapped up in, and warped by, what essentially is the 'minutia of the moment'

Such 'minutia' would include anything and everything than any human is doing saying, or promoting. All of the currency collapse now emerging, and the global planetary economic depression are small matters really. The larger issues of the 'solidity/stability' of this rock we all call home, put such concerns as [paper debt], into proper perspective.

As the year matures, there will be a plethora of places to put our energies. Many will be proffered by TPTB through their minion classes of politicians, priests, and pundits. This will be against a background of confluence of forces unleashed as the notion of empire of nation/states/illuminatus dies, and the germination of omnihumanity as a paradigm shifting context becomes visible. During this time, chaos reigns, and disorder rules. All of the contexts accruing to modelspace for 2009 have developed a common trait of having their "behavioral response" attribute be in an 'active' state. This, among other factors argues for the [transformation] label that we have applied to this year of [epic/monumental changes]. Noting that this year is merely the quickening of the process, and that we have a few years yet to go down this road, we nonetheless argue that [transformation 2009] is an [active] process, at all levels evidence of which is provided by the new lands forming off Tonga. {Ed note: *and the events of the next 3/three weeks in that region of the planet.} As the aware observer stands, noting their precarious position of a foot in the old, dying paradigm, and a foot in the new, as yet unformed, and challengingly soft paradigm, we note the definition of [transformation] contains within the descriptor set the aspect/attribute sets for "taking the plunge" which has a supporting set of "jumping in with both feet".

So as the chaos and disorder increase over Spring and the rest of 2009, we are reminded by the data sets to choose a transformation (before one chooses you), and to paraphrase Bucky Fuller, "grab a force (headed your way), and use it". This year is about choices and decisions, actions and risks. All core elements of transformation. Feel it yet? If not, you have only a short wait....get ready to jump!~
